In the decades either side of 1600 the musical life of Venice was extraordinarily rich, both in terms of the musicians who created it and the scale of the music they produced. With its spacious interior and multiple choir lofts,

VENETIAN ECHOES

St Mark's Basilica was the inspiration for the Venetian polychoral style ('many choirs'), in which groups of musicians faced each other in the galleries high above the chancel, and musically conversed across the space. Initially it was psalm texts which were set in this antiphonal idiom: later, specially composed ceremonial motet texts and even complete mass settings were sent flying round the elaborate mosaic vaulting.

The Ripieno Choir will bring you the best of Venetian polychoral music, including a rare, if not unique, performance of Giovanni Croce's Missa Percussit Saul and Andrea Gabrieli's twelve-part Magnificat, authentically placing separate choirs around the church. Our talented Apprentice Conductor, Tasmin Sarkany, will also be making her conducting debut with the choir in Monteverdi's Christe adoramus te.

The Choir will be joined by Roger Judd (organ) and the cornett and sackbut ensemble Meridian Sinfonia.
